Washington, January 5.—Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the entry into this country of Donald J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who arrived at Newport News yesterday, as a stowaway, and without passport, was ordered today by the State Department.

Officials of the Department intimated unless some extraordinary basis for extenuation was found, it was probable that no distinction would be drawn between his case and that of any other stowaway.

(By Associated Press)

New York, January 5.—The biggest liquor raid in this city since the Volstead act went into effect was made here today when $250,000 worth was seized by federal agents at the wholesale establishment of Singer Brothers, on lower Third Avenue.

Scores of cases of highest quality champagne and imported wines, with hundreds of cases of bonded whisky constituted the stock seized by the raiders. Joseph Walsh, a driver and Moe Herman, a clerk, employed by Singer Brothers, were arrested. No charges were made against Louis and Joseph Singer, members of the firm of Singer Brothers.

(By Associated Press)

Cleveland, O., January 5.—More sensational robberies occurred last night in Cleveland's crime wave while police were still trying to fasten the guilt of the Sly-Fanner double murder of last Friday on a list of suspects caught in the police dragnet.

Friends of Sly and Fanner are raising a $5,000 fund to be offered as a reward for the arrest of the murderers.

Ten thousand dollars in liberty bonds and a diamond ring valued at $350 were stolen early last evening from Joseph Novogrodsky, he told police, when two masked men jumped aboard his automobile as he was driving home after paying off a note at a bank and redeeming the bonds.

Eighty-nine arrests were made by police last night in the cleanup crusade.

FLEET OF FOURTEEN SEAPLANES STARTS ON HAZARDOUS
THREE THOUSAND MILE TEST TRIP UNDER U. S. NAVY

The upper photograph shows the seaplane fleet being placed in last readiness before leaving the San Diego naval air station landing. The other photo shows part of seaplane fleet taking off in formation. At the left of the two seaplanes is a Martin bomber, which acted as pilot at the start.

Winging their way from the San Diego naval air station en route to Balboa, Canal Zone, 3,000 miles away, facing the hazards of the stormiest season on the Mexican and Central American west coasts, are a fleet of fourteen seaplanes, sent by the navy department on a demonstration flight. In official naval circles the long flight is regarded as even a greater undertaking than the achievement of crossing the Atlantic. No patrol boats are provided, but there are supply and repair ships stationed at points along the coastal route where the aircraft are scheduled to stop.

Two giant NC seaplanes, Nos. 5 and 6, of the same type which successfully crossed the Atlantic, lead the fleet. The remaining twelve are the smaller F-5-L seaplanes, driven by two 400-horsepower Liberty motors as compared to three of these motors in the NC power plants. Although the actual flying time on the 3,000-mile trip is calculated at fifty hours, arrival at Balboa is not scheduled until Jan. 13, because of time allowances at the stopping points for rest, fueling and repairs if necessary.

(By Associated Press)

Columbus, O., January 5.—The County Auditors Association of Ohio, meeting here today, adopted a legislative program calling for numerous amendments of the laws affecting their offices. The changes suggested included:

That all special assessments certified by municipalities be collected by city treasurers instead of the county treasurers, except where payments of assessments become delinquent.

That the Secretary of State furnish county auditors with duplicate copies for applications of automobile licenses in order to insure the listing for taxation of all automobiles.

That state treasurers make their detailed report to the County Superintendent of Schools instead of the county auditors.

W. S. Barrett, Ross county, was elected president of the Auditors Association; H. Sage Valentine, Franklin county, vice president; A. B. Peckinpah, secretary and Harry Gaskill, Clinton county, treasurer.

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 5.—Attorney General Palmer has informed the House Judiciary Committee the Department of Justice has made every effort to procure indictments or information against all persons "guilty of violation of the selective service act" and that it is not believed any considerable number of persons guilty of a willful violation of the act have escaped the notice of this department and its investigators.

Representatives Volstead, chairman of the committee in announcing receipt of the letter said today it was unlikely the committee would call the Attorney General and Secretary Baker to explain the activities of their departments in apprehending slackers as requested yesterday by S. W. Galbraith, commander of the American Legion.

New York, January 5.—"Babe" Ruth today asked the police department for a permit to carry a revolver during the "crime wave" and was told he could have 55 of them—the number of home runs he walloped last year—if he desired. He declined the extra 53.

The home run slugger told the police he frequently had considerable money and much jewelry on his person. He intimated a lack of ambition to make any literal home runs with hold-up men at his heels.

AIRMENFought Snow Storm For Forty

To Descend Near Trading Post.

(By Associated Press)

Hearst, Ontario, January 5.—Tales of terrible hardships endured by the three stranded American naval balloonists from Rockaway, N. Y., in the frozen wilds of the Canadian north were related here today by Indian trappers arriving from the lower Hudson Bay District.

Their stories in the main corroborated reports the airmen were on the verge of starvation and were forced to eat their two remaining carrier pigeons to keep alive.

The men are now slowly wending their way back to civilization by dog train, with the thermometer registering 30 degrees below zero.

According to the stories of the Indians, the howling of a moose dog caught in a trap at Shesands, the original trading post of the Hudson Bay Company, was responsible for the safety of the airmen last Sunday.

When they heard the dog's cries, the balloonists decided to land. The great balloon struck in a clump of trees ten miles south of the post, and the occupants were almost stripped of their clothing in the perilous descent.

For almost forty hours, the Americans had mocked death in a raging storm high in the air, and for the time being they were too exhausted to do anything but congratulate themselves upon their safe landing.

Clinton, Iowa, January 5.—Relatives today awaited word concerning the whereabouts of Miss Celeste Lamb, stepdaughter of a wealthy lumberman, and Robert S. Smith, Jr., who disappeared yesterday on the eve of Miss Lamb's announced wedding with Ensign Harold Holcomb, of Pasadena, California.

Ensign Holcomb, thrice disappointed on the eve of dates set for the wedding, departed for his home.

The wedding originally had been planned to take place on the island of Guam, last summer, while Ensign Holcomb was on duty there. It was proposed as announced as a holiday event here. On the eve of the date set it was declared Miss Lamb had become ill and the ceremony date was again advanced to last night.

URGES
ALIEN INFLUX

(By Associated Press)

Washington, Jan. 5.—Testimony by Commissioner Wallis of the Ellis Island Immigration station that Europe was "literally moving to the United States" left members of the Senate Immigration Committee doubtful tonight as to action upon the Johnson bill prohibiting immigration for one year.

Several members frankly expressed doubt whether any measure to stop or restrict immigration could be enacted at this session of Congress.

The committee obviously was impressed with Commissioner Wallis' statement as to the need for inspection of aliens before leaving Europe and for more rigid examinations after their arrival at American ports.

The commissioner recommended particularly that facilities be established overseas for such inspections and declared that ninety percent of the immigrants arriving under the existing system would be denied permission to sail if they were examined at ports of embarkation by American officials.

The commissioner declared reports that eastern Europe today is in the grip of four epidemics—typhus, typhoid, dysentery and tuberculosis. The war has undermined the health of those countries and their immigrants are "dangerous to the public health of the United States," he said.

"One of the greatest troubles we have at Ellis Island is getting rid of their vermin. It should be done before they arrive."

"I had rather turn back a thousand good people than let one in who would blow up Wall Street," he said.

Chairman Colt of the committee asked whether it would be "harmful" if Congress postponed changing present laws for six months.

"It would not be more harmful than at present," Mr. Wallis replied. "But I would prefer a definite measure giving us more inspectors, living quarters and increased facilities overseas."

WOMAN IS STRUCK BY WAGON TONGUE

Right Knee Is Seriously Injured and Ligaments in Limb Are Torn Loose

In an accident that happened in an unusual manner, Mrs. Elmer Bush, of Jeffersonville, was seriously injured Tuesday afternoon.

Her husband had attached a team of horses to the rear end of a farm wagon to pull it out of the mud in which it had mired and Mrs. Bush was standing near the wagon tongue.

When the team started the wagon tongue switched to the side and with terrific force struck Mrs. Bush on the right limb at the knee. She was knocked violently to the ground and it was feared at first that the limb had been broken. The knee cap was dislocated and the ligaments were torn.

The injured woman was removed to the Stitt-Todhunter offices in this city in the S. C. Morrow ambulance.

She was later removed to her home. It is believed that the injury will not be of permanent nature although it is of unusual severeness.

FATHER AND MOTHER STRUCK BY AUTO

F. M. Cochran Called to Granville When Parents Are Seriously Injured.

Severe injuries received by his mother and father when they were struck by an automobile last Thursday have called their son F. M. Cochran, proprietor of the Cochran Book Store, to Granville.

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran were crossing street in Granville when an automobile skidded on the ice and crashed against them before they could escape.

Mrs. Cochran had her right arm fractured at the wrist and above the elbow and was severely bruised while Mr. Cochran suffered serious injuries.

ROADS SUFFER DURING THAWOUT

The roads of the county have suffered seriously during the recent thaw following the rain and snow, and wherever the roads are not properly crowned they have been cut and rutted until they have become disagreeable for traffic. This applies to the roads not rebuilt in a modern way in recent years.

The wet weather and thaw made the flat roads easy prey to heavy automobiles, and ruts appeared within a remarkably short time.

POWER CUT DOWN

LIGHTS WERE DIM

For a few minutes just at dusk Tuesday evening electric lights and power in this city were at low ebb and the current was cut off in the surrounding municipalities because of an overloaded generator at the power plant.

As soon as the trouble was noticed another generator was put in use and the lights brightened up while the current was again turned into the other towns.

SOMETHING ABOUT HIGH TEST FUEL

Some time ago we announced our special equipment for handling high test gasoline, but have not said much about the quality of this product.

It is strictly and absolutely a high test fuel (70 or better). We could obtain a so-called high test (somewhat higher than the regular commercial gasoline) and could sell it at a much less price than we are selling our present high test fuel, but we believe when the people want something higher than the ordinary commercial product they want the best.

Tiptop High Test Gas

is not offered to compete with inferior products at a price, but is offered as absolutely the best obtainable in this territory.

If you want a Strictly High Test Gas you will be satisfied with nothing but TIPTOP and it can only be obtained at our filling station on S. Fayette St.

Supposing

One of the political writers—one of those many trained and expert observers of political affairs hard pressed now for interesting subjects to discuss while the present administrations in nation and state are marking time until their successors assume control, suggests that we are all wrong in speaking of Senator Harding as president-elect because, as a matter of fact he is not elected until after the electoral college convenes and the formal vote is cast.

We are compelled to admit that the statement is technically correct. When we stop to think about it we will all realize that, notwithstanding the exciting campaign of last fall and the votes cast by millions of people throughout the nation—men and women—that not a single vote was cast for Senator Harding, his associate on the ticket, Calvin Coolidge, or for their opponents either, Governor Cox or Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Millions of people went to the polls and voted, huge ballots at the top of which, under the party emblems, appeared the names of the respective candidates for president and vice president, but no one voted for them. What the voters did do was to vote for electors, many of whom they had never heard of and for whom they gave little or no thought.

The electors whose names appeared on the ballots under those of Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge received an enormous plurality of the total vote cast.

Our presidential election machinery is an intricate and mysterious thing. Nobody has yet been elected to the presidency. The electors are absolutely free to do just as they please when the electoral college assembles and there is no way to undo their work. It's up to them to elect a president and vice-president. We all presume they will vote for Harding and Coolidge, but that is only presumption on our part.

It looks like a good safe presumption. The political friends of Senator Harding are going right ahead with never a doubt that it will work out all right and it undoubtedly will, but just supposing the electors should conclude to exercise the free power vested in them by the constitution and elect someone else—well, they would have a large number of enemies.

To people fond of supposing there is a possibility which offers a free range until the electoral college meets.

A Saner Christmas

The American people have just passed through what was probably the safest and sanest Christmastide in history.

Not in years have the police blotters of the country recorded such a slump in holiday business. Not in years, probably, has there been such a lack of the bottled and bonded variety of cheer.

Where once the yuletide was the occasion for many and often otherwise well balanced citizens to just naturally "let go" to gambol hilariously in the train of Bacchus, the libators this year were conspicuously fewer.

Where formerly hotels and cafes from landsend to landsend were filled on New Year's Eve with noisy celebrants who were wont to welcome the New Year to the accompaniment of popping corks and clinking glasses, this year, under the close scrutiny of stern-browed detectives, those who ventured into the cafes at all either sipped bravely of lemonade or took their nips surreptitiously from pocket flasks in darkened corners.

There was, of course, evidence of spirituous hilarity, but it was everywhere markedly less than a year ago.

A striking contrast is presented in figures submitted by a temperance board. They show that in 1915, an average year of the old order, there were recorded during Christmas week 77 murders, 18 suicides, 155 wounded, many killed and hurt in accidents and nearly 300 cases of criminal violence in the country attributed solely to drunkenness.

This year, few cities or towns show anything like the usual crime record due to this cause.

POETRY FOR TODAY

WAITING

Serene, I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind, nor tide, nor sea;
I have no more 'gainst time or fate,
For, lo! my own shall come to me.

I stay my haste, I make delays,
For what avails this eager pace?
I stand amid the eternal ways,
And what is mine shall know my face.

Asleep, awake, by night or day,
The friends I seek are seeking me;
No wind can drive my bark astray,
Nor change the tide of destiny.

What matter if I stand alone?
I wait with joy the coming years;
My heart shall reap where it hath sown,
And garner up its fruit of tears.

The waters know their own and draw
The brook that springs in yonder heights,
So flows the good with equal law
Unto the soul of pure delights.

The stars come nightly to the sky;
The tidal wave comes to the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me.

YOU NEED PEPTO-MANGAN

A Really Wonderful Blood Tonic
That Puts You Back on a Healthy Basis

Your face will tell you how your health is. Muddy complexions and drawn, pale, haggard faces usually mean bad blood, clogged with poison. It is dangerous. Your powers of resistance are low. Disease germs would have an easy time of it.

When you work too hard you get fatigued. You probably keep it up for days perhaps months with out feeling any bad effects. Sooner or later it tells in your blood. You are not yourself.

It is then your blood needs the help of that great tonic Pepto-Mangan. It is a wonderful remedy that physicians have recommended for thirty years.

But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's" and be sure that the full name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package. You can buy it in liquid form or in tablets, whichever you prefer; one has the same ingredients as the other and gives the same effect. Advertisement

SAYS HARDING WILL APPOINT BEST AVAILABLE MEN TO POSTS

Sullivan Declares Daugherty's Career As Politician Unfits Him For Attorney General

Claims Harding is Not Indebted To Campaign Manager

BY MARK SULLIVAN
(Copyright 1920)

Washington, D. C., January 4.—The assumption that Harding will offer the post of Attorney General to Harry Daugherty rests on the theory that Harding is under obligations to Daugherty. Omitting the fact that the payment of an obligation by means of a cabinet office would be seriously improper and contrary to every thing we know of Hardings point of view toward his cabinet appointments, even the theory that Harding is under obligations to Daugherty is in itself at fault.

Harding owes little to Daugherty compared to what Daugherty owes to Harding. Daugherty was an Ohio politician who had been through a series of defeats and who saw a chance to get a new lease on political life by persuading Harding to consent to let Daugherty use his name as a candidate for the presidential nomination. Harding never asked Daugherty to do something for him; it was Daugherty who asked Harding—not merely asked but repeatedly solicited him. Harding didn't ask Daugherty to be his political manager. All the initiative and all the solicitation came from Daugherty.

It is too complex to go into minute detail but any adequate description of the inception of Hardings candidacy would say that Harding most reluctantly gave up a comparatively certain reelection to the senate in order to further Daugherty's political fortunes in Ohio by letting Daugherty enter his name for the presidency. That the venture turned out better than either of them anticipated does not alter the original balance of the obligation.

Incidentally it is of interest now to recall the fact that Daugherty in persuading Harding to run told Harding that if the enterprise should be successful he, Daugherty, would not embarrass Harding by asking or accepting any office. Even under all this urging on Daugherty's part Harding gave his consent to run only with the greatest reluctance. On several occasions he wanted to withdraw that consent and tried to do so, but yielded to Daugherty's importunities.

Daugherty has already had as much or more benefit out of the association with Harding than he ever hoped to get. It has entrenched him in a control of Ohio Republican politics that he could hardly again have achieved but for his association with Harding. It is in favor of Harding that the obligation now runs, and not in favor of Daugherty.

Even if Harding should feel that Daugherty's position in Ohio politics would be still further improved by a tender to him or the office of attorney general, he would undoubtedly rely on Daugherty to decline the office. Some politicians say Harding had better get Daugherty's declination in hand before he makes the offer. But this is said humorously and possibly without knowledge of the undertaking Daugherty gave Harding at the inception of the enterprise more than a year ago not to accept any offer if Harding should become president.

It is true that some of Harding's advisers among the senators and others at Washington are concerned over the repeated rumors about the possibility of Daugherty being offered the attorney general's office. Nine out of ten of men whom Harding regards as his soundest and most loyal counsellors would advise Harding emphatically not to give the attorney general's office to Daugherty, if Harding should ask their advice. Some of these advisers, of face, have thought of giving this advice to Harding of their own initiative, but have felt restrained by the thought that it is too personal a matter and that the thing is not to be thought of anyhow.

Daugherty himself would be the first to recognize how deplorable it would be to make him attorney general. Daugherty is a rough and ready politician of the old school. He is not the sort of lawyer, out of whom attorney generals are made.

The attorney general's office of all the offices under the gift of Harding, that one which most surely calls not only for eminence among lawyers, but also for complete freedom on the part of the occupant from political obligation and even from political associations.

The attorney general's office is in the same class with the justices of the supreme court and no man should be made attorney general who is not fitted to pass from that office to the supreme court. In fact two of the present justices of the supreme court, McKenna and McReynolds, came to the bench directly from the attorney general's office.

The attorney general's office is in reality almost as much a judicial office as the supreme court. Apart from a score of other considerations, Harry Daugherty is about the most unjudicial of men; both by his temperament and because of his long political rough and tumble. Daugherty is a man to whom all the world is divided into friends who are to be helped, and enemies who are to be punished.

The very qualities that make Daugherty successful as a politician and in many ways likable as a man, would make him a grave misfit as attorney general. He is courageous and he is always fighting. His personal generosity, if not his judgment, would restrain him from subjecting Harding to what everybody knows would follow any serious suggestion that Harding should make him attorney general. The digging up of old charges, the rehashing of old investigations, the rehearing of Daugherty's career as a politician would be painful to both.

Even if Daugherty were willing to go through it himself he would hardly be willing to drag Harding through it, nor to be the cause of such a shock as his appointment would be to the present trustfulness of the public. But Harding will appoint to each of his cabinet posts the highest available leader in the world.

THINGS TO SEE IN THE WINTERTIME

THE PAPPOOSE ON THE SQUAW'S BACK
By ERNEST THOMPSON SETON.

Now that you know how the Bears and the Big Dipper came you should know the Indian story of the old Squaw.

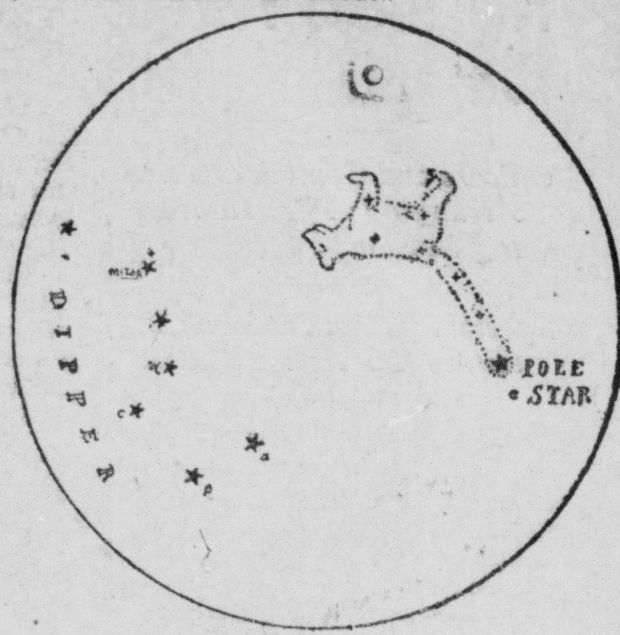

First find the bright star that is at the bend of the Dipper handle. This is called the "Old Squaw;" on her back is a tiny star that they call "The Pappoose."

As soon as an Indian boy is old enough to understand, his mother takes him out into the night when it is calm and clear, and without any moon or any bright lights near, and says, "My child, yonder is the Old Squaw, the second of the seven stars; she is going over the top of the hill; on her back she carries her pappoose. Tell me, my child, can you see the pappoose?"

Then the little redskin gazes, and from his mother's hand he takes two pebbles, a big one and a little one, and he sets them together on her palm, to show how the two stars seem to him. When the mother is sure that he did see them clearly, she rejoices. She goes to the fire and drops a pinch of tobacco into it, for incense to carry her message, then looking toward the sky she says: "Great Spirit I thank thee that my child has the eyes of a hunter."

These things are not new, O Woodcrafter. The wise men of our race call the Big Star "Mizar," one of the chariot horses, and the little star "Alcor" or the Rider. In all ages it has been considered proof of first-class eyes to see this little star. Can you see it? Have you the eyes of a hunter?

Mr. Bishop and his bride went to St. Louis, Mo., on their wedding trip, returning to Evansville to make their home.

The bridegroom is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Bishop of 410 East Paint street this city, and for some time has been in Evansville, President of the Bishop Coffee Company.

The subject of "Belgians in Africa" was handled in an interesting paper by Mrs. Bella L. Ustick.

The government of the Congo Free State centers at Brussels, but is quite distinct from the Belgian government, with which at present it has no connection save that his Majesty Leopold II is both King of Belgians and Sovereign of the Congo State.

The official language is French. The sovereignty is absolute. The state is divided into 14 districts, each one having a commissioner and an army of 14,000 men now massed in various camps.

The Belgian Treasury grants as a loan $80,000 annually to the Administration and the King supplements with a personal gift of $40,000 annually. That government is now constructing a line of telegraph from the Atlantic to Lake Tanganyika and so far have 750 miles.

The Belgians may well be proud of their part in the opening up of Africa and the development of 900,000 square miles. The whole continent bids fair to be linked together by a net work of railways. The English are electrifying the South African lines; the French are planning rails across the Sahara which will connect Uganda and Cameroon in West Africa with the Eastern Coast and the Mediterranean.

Africa is no longer the "open sore of the World" as it was called by Livingston.

Miss Mabel Sunkle added a charming MacDowell number to the program.

Mrs. John Carr and daughter, Miss Ruth complimented Dr. W. E. Ireland, who left Wednesday for Battle Creek Mich., and Mrs. Mary Corbett, of Jeffersonville, with an informal little supper Tuesday night.

HIGH SCHOOL OPENS SEASON WITH ATHENS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Washington High School opens the season next Friday evening with the Athens High School team at Athens. Intensive practice has been resumed with the reopening of school and the return of Coach Charles Moorehead.

In the two practice games that the high school has played this season, each time with a patched lineup, unusual form has featured the play of the Blue and White and their floor work and basket shooting has been extraordinary.

An offensive is being built around Captain Russell Dorn that will probably give trouble to the strongest teams. He has developed into an expert basket shooter and is showing better than ever before. The defensive seems to be one of the teams strong points.

Although Athens is rated among the best teams of the state the Blue and White will enter into their first game with the intention of winning. It will be one of the hardest games of the season played by Washington High.

LISTEN LESTER AT THE MURPHY

With a whirl of merriment, song and dance, and music that is rich in melody, sung by a score of unusually pretty girls, artistically costumed, "Listen Lester" John Cort's musical comedy success which for a year kept audiences at the Knickerbocker Theater in New York agog to keep pace with it, come to the Murphy Theater Wilmington, January 5. The hook and lyrics have a quality of light-heartedness that distinguish them as sure-fire recipes for merriment, and the music is tuneful, and what is more, distinctly original—which would of course be true of any play which lays claim for being to the pens and minds of Harry L. Cort, George E. Stoddard and Harold Orlob.

100TH BIRTHDAY OCCASIONS BIG CELEBRATION

The hundredth birthday of Mr. John Durham, esteemed townsman of Mt. Sterling upon January the third was the occasion of one of the most noted celebrations in our neighboring town. The whole town turned out and throughout the vicinity there was the greatest interest in the celebration, held in the Presbyterian church. It was also of much local interest, Mr. Durham being a former Fayette Mountain and residing for years on his farm in the Manara neighborhood.

The centenarian was born on a farm near New Holland, now owned by T. M. Withgott. He is the grandson of the Revolutionary soldier for whom he was named and who lies buried in the Cedar Grove cemetery and whose grave bears the distinction of a bronze marker placed by the Mt. Sterling Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution. This ancestor owned land near this cemetery on both sides of the Egypt road, now a part of the John Dick farm.

Mr. Durham is wonderfully preserved and took part in the big celebration with the activity and interest of a far younger man. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dial, Mr. and Mrs. John Dial, Mrs. Almer Hegler and Miss Ida Ware attended from here.

HEAVY DAMAGE ACTION FILED AGAINST PALMER

Widow of Man Who Leaped From The Fourteenth Story Window.

Other Officials Are Made Defendants

(By Associated Press)

New York, January 5.—The Italian Chamber of Labor announced today a $100,000 damage suit had been filed here in state supreme court against Attorney General Palmer and four other officials of the Department of Justice in connection with the death of Andrea Salsedo, who jumped 14 stories to his death last May while under detention at Department headquarters here in connection with the bomb outrages of June, 1919.

The suit, brought by Salsedo's widow, named also William J. Flynn, chief of the Department Bureau of Investigation. It was charged Salsedo had been beaten "terribly" and "tortured mentally and physically" that he had lost his mind and become suicidally despondent.

The chamber announced copies of the charges had been sent to the Italian Embassy at Washington and the Italian Consulate at Boston and New York.

Four resolutions demanding that the seats of Charles Solomon, Henry Jaeger and Samuel Orr be declared vacant were offered.

Factions on the resolutions were deferred and the Socialists are to retain their seats temporarily at least.

SAYS CONGRESS LIABLE TO ACT VERY UNWISELY

Hoosier Resident Tells Committee Eighty Millions Must Also be Considered

(By Associated Press)

Washington, January 5.—Congress at this time is apt to "run lopsided" in the interest of producers without giving heed to the 80,000,000 dependent on them for food A. E. Reynolds, of Crawfordsville Ind., told the house Agricultural Committee today in opposition to legislation designed to put an extra tax on speculative grain trading.

"That is the great danger now," said Mr. Reynolds, who described himself as a country graindealer. "It is unwise to try and overcome one fault by making a greater one. All of you will wear halos if you can frame a law to get rid of gambling without disturbing legitimate trading."

"TOO OLD" NOT ALWAYS TRUE

Many middle-aged men and women look old before their time, and when there are two workers for one job, the younger looking is favored. When the kidneys are overworked, tired or diseased, one slows up and looks and acts older than he really is. Foley Kidney Pills help disordered kidneys.

EPIDEMIC TAKES ITS DEATH TOLL IN ONE FAMILY

Death of Elisha Meyers is Second in Two Weeks While a Brother and
Two Sisters Suffer With the Same Disease.

Twice in the last two weeks death has visited the Meyers family at Jeffersonville.

Little Elisha Meyers, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyers passed away at nine o'clock Tuesday morning. Death was due to a hemorrhage which followed an attack of typhoid fever from which he was recovering.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon.

Two weeks ago the oldest child in the family, Rufus, age 14, was a victim of typhoid. Another little brother, William, is in the Hodson Hospital in this city suffering with an attack of the same malady.

A baby sister is very ill with typhoid at home and another sister, Serena has just recovered from the disease.

MEMOIR

Marion P. Geller, son of John Milton and Louisa Geller was born in Fayette County, Ohio, August 8, 1855. Died December 26, 1920 at his home near Buena Vista at the age of 65 years 4 months, 18 days. He was the oldest of a family of five children of whom two preceded him in death. He was married to Nannie Carle in September 1874.
To this union were born three children
Etta Geller at home, Elza Geller, of Columbus and one son dying in infancy.

There remain to mourn his loss a wife, two children, one brother, one sister and a number of relatives and friends. He was a friend to every one.
He was a kind and loving husband and father a good neighbor and loved by all who knew him. He has been in poor health for the past four years, but was very patient and did not complain.
He will be missed by every one but the loss will be greater in his home where his place can not be filled. Our loss is his gain for he is at rest. All that loving hands could do was done for him but all in vain for his time had come. We would not call him back, but we hope to meet him in that "Better Land" where good-byes are unknown.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends

ment and for the beautiful flowers also

ASK GOVERNMENT TO BUILD HOMES

Copenhagen. (By Mail) — Trade unions comprising all the workers in the housebuilding industry, have adopted a resolution demanding that the government, without delay, commence the building of dwellings to mitigate the "alarming" growth of unemployment, and the lack of housing accommodation.

Private contractors have practically stopped building as they say the business is unprofitable on account of the high wages and the dearth of materials.

BRAZIL TO REVISE HER TARIFF RATES

Rio de Janeiro. (By Mail)—An important revision of the Brazilian customs tariff has been completed by the tax revision committee of the Chamber of Deputies and will shortly, it is expected, be debated in the chamber preparatory to being coming law. Before preparing the draft of the proposed law, the committee consulted producers, consumers and commercial associations.

The government, it is stated, wants the revised tariff passed into law before the end of the year.

WISHES SHE HAD TAKEN THE ADVICE

Would Have Saved Lots of Suffering If She Had Taken Tanlac Three Years Ago.

"If I had only heeded my sister's advice and taken Tanlac three years ago I would have saved myself a world of suffering," said Mrs. J. W. Marshall, 1112 South Fifteenth St., Toledo Ohio.

"For ten years I suffered from stomach trouble and nervousness, and finally got so bad I was miserable all the time. I had to guard carefully against eating any solid food, for if I did my stomach would cramp me till I'd want to scream. Often the hurting would continue for hours and bring on choking and smothering spells.

"I never got a good night's rest and always felt dead tired, and got so weak I dreaded to attempt to do any house work. I got fearfully blue over my condition, and wondered if there wasn't any medicine anywhere that would help me.

"After reading several Tanlac testimonials I remembered my sister in Indiana had tried three years ago to get me interested in Tanlac, so I made up my mind to try it and I soon found it was the right medicine for me. Right from the start I began to improve and now after taking three bottles I am feeling just fine.

"I am stronger than I've been before in ten years and I sleep as sound as I ever did. I never enjoyed my meals more than I do now, and continually have to guard against eating too much for I'm hungry all the time.

"I am glad to tell of the good Tanlac has done me and hope many other people now suffering may be helped by it."

Tanlac is sold in Washington by C. S. Haver, in Lowell by Mason's Drug Store, in Jeffersonville by J. B. Davis. In Octa by J. W. Murphy and in Mill edgeville, E. L. Ford Sons, Lee Orman Selden. Advt.

HALF PAY GIVEN TO BANK EMPLOYEE WHO IS RETIRED

After nearly fifty years of service with The Peoples & Drovers Bank of this city, Mr. Frank Johnson has been retired by the Board of Directors at half pay for the remainder of his life, the action being due to the fact that Mr. Johnson's sight has been failing rapidly for some time until it became impossible for him to carry on his work.

The action of the Board of Directors of the bank was due to the devoted service of Mr. Johnson during his long period with the institution.

During his nearly a half century of work in the bank, Mr. Johnson has always been found at his desk and because of his association with the public, has a wide acquaintance throughout this part of Ohio, particularly among the bankers, stockmen and railroad men.
